

Embeddings in “random like” graphs

Guanghai Wang

School of Mathematics, Shandong University

Abstract

An archetype problem in extremal combinatorics is to study the structure of subgraphs appearing in different classes of (hyper)graphs. We will focus on such embedding problems in “random like” graphs. In prewise, we will mention ramsey-turán problems and related results.